

International Research Securities, Inc.

Customer Relationship Summary (Form CRS)

April 2, 2024

Introduction

International Research Securities, Inc. is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) as a broker-dealer and is a member firm of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC). There are different ways you can get help with your investments. You should carefully consider which types of accounts and services are right for you. We are a broker-dealer and provide brokerage accounts and services. This document gives you a summary of the types of services we provide and how you pay. Please ask us for more information.

Free and simple tools are available for you to research firms and financial professionals at www.investor.gov/CRS, a website maintained by the SEC. These tools can also provide you with educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer brokerage services to retail investors, including buying and selling securities. Our services include discussing your investment goals, assistance with developing or executing an investment strategy, on-going communications, making investment recommendations consistent with your investment strategy and facilitating the execution and settlement of your securities transactions. We do not have a minimum account size or investment amount requirement and we generally provide services on a non-discretionary basis and do not monitor your investments, and to this end, you may select investments, or we may recommend investments for your account, but the ultimate investment decision for your investment strategy and the purchase or sale of investments will be yours. Our investment advice is limited to mutual funds, variable annuities and 529 college savings plans. Other firms could provide advice on a wider range of choices, some of which might have lower cost. We can offer you additional services to assist you with your investment goals, including the purchase of insurance products.

What fees will I pay?

Principal Fees and Costs

If you open a brokerage account, you will pay us a transaction-based fee, generally referred to as a commission, every time you buy or sell an investment. While our fees vary and are negotiable, the amount you pay will depend, for example, on how much you buy or sell, what type of investment you buy or sell, and what kind of account you have with us. With stocks or exchange-traded funds, this fee is usually a separate commission. With other investments, such as bonds, this fee might be part of the price you pay for the investment (called a “mark-up” or “mark down”). With mutual funds, this fee (typically called a “load”) reduces the value of your investment.

Ultimately, the more transactions in your account, the more fees we charge you. We therefore have an incentive to encourage you to engage in transactions.

Other Fees and Costs

We also charge you additional fees, such as custodial fees, account maintenance charges, account inactivity fees, deferred sales charges, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on custodial brokerage accounts and securities transactions and other transactional fees and product level fees. Some investments (such as mutual funds and variable annuities) impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time. Also, with certain investments such as variable annuities, you may have to pay fees such as “surrender charges” to sell the investment.

Additional Information

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

Please see our Regulation Best Interest Disclosure for additional information regarding our fees and costs.

Conversation Starter: Ask your financial professional and start a conversation about the impact of fees and costs on investments -

- Help me understand how these fees and costs affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does the firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we provide you with a recommendation, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the recommendations and investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- Third-Party Payments: We receive compensation from certain managers and sponsors (or their affiliates) share revenue they earn with us when you invest in certain of their investment products (primarily mutual funds and variable annuities) with us. As such, we have an incentive to recommend (or to invest your assets in) products of sponsors and managers that share their revenue with us, over other products of sponsors or managers that do not share their revenue, or who share less.

How do your financial professionals make money?

Your financial professional earns compensation based upon a portion of the sales commissions resulting from the buying and selling securities for your brokerage account. Your financial professional also earns compensation based upon the revenue we earn for providing you with advisory services or recommendations and for the sale of insurance products through non-affiliated firms. As a result, your financial professional may have a financial incentive to buy and sell securities in a brokerage account. Additionally, your financial professionals are compensated based on factors such as the commissions from transactions recommended by your financial professional, and the sale of insurance products.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

Yes. Please see www.Investor.gov/CRS or <https://brokercheck.finra.org> for a free and simple tool to research the background and experience of us and our financial professionals.
